A guide to US College admissions

While the US has always been a popular destination for Indian students pursuing postgraduate studies, there has been growing interest among Indian families and high school students in the last five years especially for an undergraduate education in the US.

The prospect of studying at your dream college in the US is exciting, but it requires considerable planning, hard work and focus. Because the cultural context and education systems are so different, Indian families face many stumbling blocks; knowledge gaps result in questions and sometimes, costly mistakes.

Acing Admissions is a comprehensive guide to the US college admissions process, for parents and students alike. The book's authors are Tardeo residents, Kavita Mehta and Kimberly Wright Dixit, PhD, co-founders of The Red Pen, a global education consulting company based in Mumbai. The Red Pen advises applicants on admissions strategy and application components for all levels of education.

The book aims to demystify the US college admissions process by providing easy-to-understand information and anecdotes that are helpful to Indian applicants. It gives applicants an overview of the US education system and different types of colleges, tips on how to select a college, application process and components, financial aid and more. The book has a glossary of terms that students will find helpful along with sample forms and resume templates.

Acing Admissions is available for purchase from Amazon, Flipkart and other online stores.
