Testimonials

The Red Pen helped elevate my essays. Their critical and articulate feedback helped me understand the implications of certain SOP topics and their impact on my overall applications. The teams prompt approach helped me troubleshoot my problems with ease. Thanks to their guidance, I received admissions from all the universities I applied to. I am incredibly excited to be attending Columbia University.

BD

Admitted to Columbia University

Being introduced to The Red Pen during my application process was a blessing. I am thankful to the entire team for guiding me through the application process. Their unique perspectives and constructive feedback significantly streamlined the process. The team's diligence and commitment to excellence truly distinguished my experience. Special mention to my content specialist who helped me craft compelling drafts. Their promptness and finesse demonstrated the unwavering professionalism that underpins The Red Pen's core values.

MS

Admitted to St. George's University

I had a great experience with The Red Pen team. I was very anxious when I approached them and was in an analysis paralysis due to the plethora of information available online. I was unable to figure what to trust. The Red Pen helped me decide my major, shortlist universities and understand my strengths and weaknesses. They helped me manage my deadlines and guided me through the entire process. I am really thankful to the entire team.

AR

Admitted to Duke University

The Red Pen's team really came through for me with my applications to the US and UK. My counsellor was amazing and guided me through every step. They helped me choose programmes and universities that matched my interests. The content specialist at The Red Pen was also fantastic, providing clear direction and support when I needed it most. With their help, my final applications truly reflected my voice and perspective. The Red Pen's organised approach and constant support made the application process much easier for me, taking away a lot of the stress. I wholeheartedly recommend their services to anyone else starting a similar academic journey.

AN

Admitted to NYU Stern School of Business

My experience with Red Pen was fantastic. They were highly supportive and receptive to my college preferences, essay writing, resume building, and more. Initially, I was unsure about my college choices, but their multiple sessions helped align my goals, resulting in programme recommendations that perfectly matched my aspirations. Their prompt responses during the essay editing process and going above and beyond to thoroughly review my applications were commendable. I highly recommend Red Pen to any student applying for studies abroad.

VG

Admitted to University of Chicago

The Red Pen recognises that this success results from a collaborative effort, which includes the hard work and dedication of our applicants. However, in the interest of discretion and privacy we do not share student names. But we're honoured to have played a part in their application journeys, and thank each one of them for trusting us.
